

All of us grew up watching a variety of TV shows, including cartoon series, particularly those with recognizable cartoon characters. Most of us still enjoy watching cartoons whenever we have the chance. Cartoons can be seen by adults as well as children. Several well-known cartoon characters have also captured our hearts. The 15 most loved cartoon characters of all time are listed below.

15 Most Loved Cartoon Characters of All Time

1. Tom & Jerry
2. Mickey Mouse
3. Popeye
4. Donald Duck
5. Spider-Man
6. Marvin The Martian
7. Spongebob
8. Bugs Bunny
9. Scooby Doo
10. Fred Flintstone
11. Homer Simpson
12. Dr. Doofenshmirtz
13. Charlie Brown
14. Phineas and Ferb
15. Pink Panther

Tom & Jerry

*15 Most Loved Cartoon Characters of All Time - Tom & Jerry

In 1940, Hanna and Barbera launched the animated comic series, Tom and Jerry. The main characters of this series are the mouse, Jerry, and the cat, Tom. Watching their spirited rivalry and how Tom is unable to catch Jerry every time is entertaining. The fact that each episode of this cartoon is only a short time in length is its strongest feature.

Mickey Mouse

Mickey Mouse

In 1928, Walt Disney and Ub Iwerks created the animated character Mickey Mouse. It was the original sound-synchronized animated character. Along with other cartoon characters like Goofy, Pluto, and Donald Duck, Mickey was generally accompanied by his girlfriend Minnie Mouse. The 1950s' most-watched children's television program was Mickey Mouse Club House.

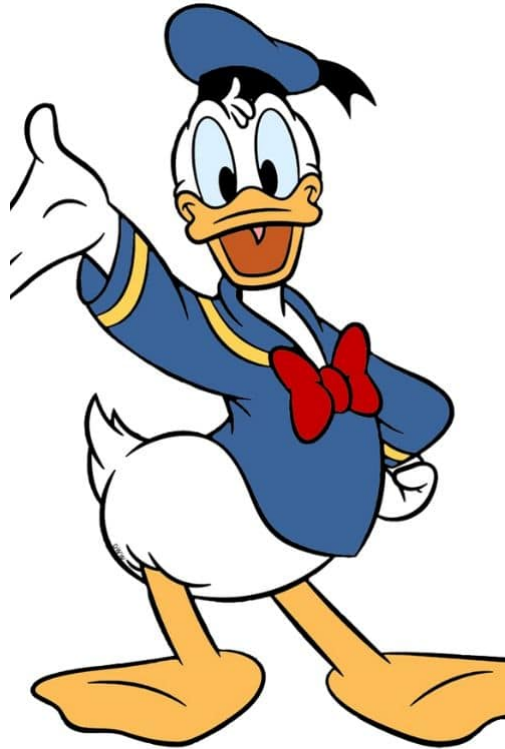

Popeye

*15 Most Loved Cartoon Characters of All Time - Popeye

Popeye is a cartoon character who achieves superhuman power after eating spinach. He is a spinach-loving sailor. E. C. Segar, a cartoonist, created Popeye. Popeye was later made for the big screen by Fleischer Studios. Popeye was the subject of a TV series made by Paramount Pictures in the early 1960s.

Donald Duck

Donald Duck

Cartoons featuring Donald Duck are always entertaining to watch. He debuted in 1934 and rose to fame in his own unique style. He gained notoriety after Donald in Mathmagic Land, his Oscar-winning picture.

Spider-Man

*15 Most Loved Cartoon Characters of All Time - Spider-Man

Before becoming a cartoon character, Stan Lee developed Spider-Man in 1962 as a comic book character for Marvel comics. Everyone's first superhero was Spider-Man. Peter Parker, aka Spider-Man, a high school student, is the main character of the series. The several Spider-Man Marvel movies that have been made throughout the years have been well-welcomed by audiences all over the world.

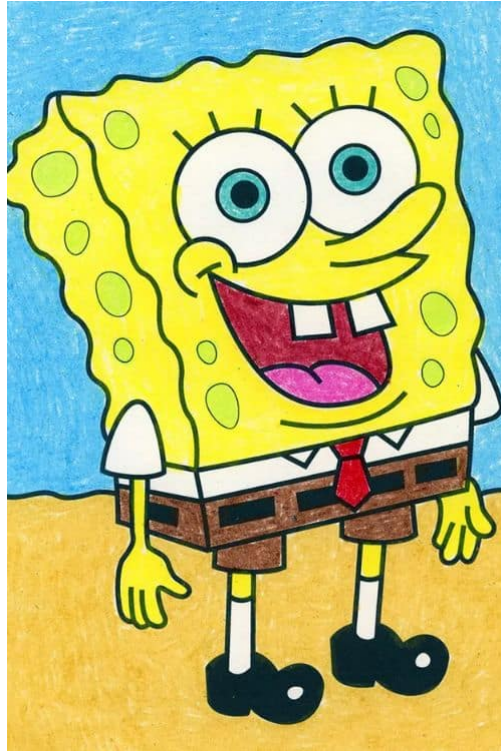

Marvin The Martian

Marvin The Martian

In 1948, Bugs Bunny's Haredevil Hare featured Marvin the Martian for the first time. As a bad guy, he can be seen in a number of animated series and video games. Due to his partially disguised look, this figure strikes us as mysterious.

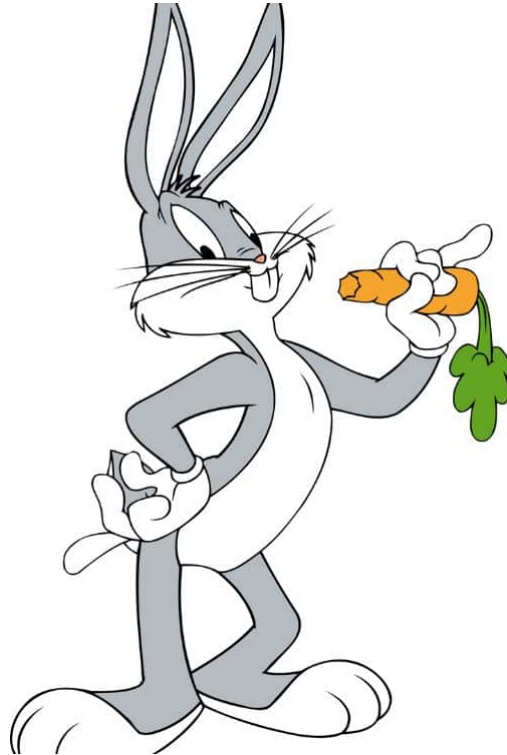

Spongebob

*15 Most Loved Cartoon Characters of All Time - Spongebob

There is no denying that Spongebob generated a lot of buzz among Nickelodeon viewers after its initial premiere in 1999. This well-known cartoon character never ceased delighting admirers around the world, despite the fact that its creator, Stephen Hillenburg passed away in 2018. It enjoyed living near the Pacific Ocean, but it also went on a number of adventures with companions. It's important to recognize his love of cooking.

Bugs Bunny

Bugs Bunny

Since the late 1930s, Bugs Bunny has been a part of Warner Bros. Cartoons thanks to Leon Schlesinger Productions, the company that created him. The famous rabbit known as Bugs Bunny has appeared in many leading roles. What's up, Doc? was its most famous slogan at the time. It has successfully participated in a number of humorous cartoons. This rabbit was adept at making the most of every situation.

Scooby Doo

*15 Most Loved Cartoon Characters of All Time - Scooby Doo

The Scooby-Doo series has a certain similarity. They would undoubtedly be pursued by a known individual. Iwao Takamoto, Ken Spears, and Joe Ruby are the authors of this renowned animated character. There is always a new mystery to solve, and Scooby-Doo is always there to help.

Fred Flintstone

Fred Flintstone

Considering how renowned Fred Flintstone is among other cartoon characters, he needs to be included on this list. The main character in the 1960s animated television series “The Flintstones” was Fred. Hanna and Barbera are the authors of it. The caring and kindhearted nature of this character is well-recognized. For instance, it gives a lot of thought to its neighbors Barney Rubble and his family.

Homer Simpson

*15 Most Loved Cartoon Characters of All Time - Homer Simpson

A cartoon icon that represents entertainment is Homer Simpson. It has become steadily stronger ever since it first appeared in the renowned Tracey Ullman Show in 1987. Matt Groening, who created it, is wholly deserving of all the praise. The catchphrase “D’oh!” was made popular by the Simpsons and is commonly used to express displeasure. His character is one of immaturity, selfishness, idiocy, and laziness.

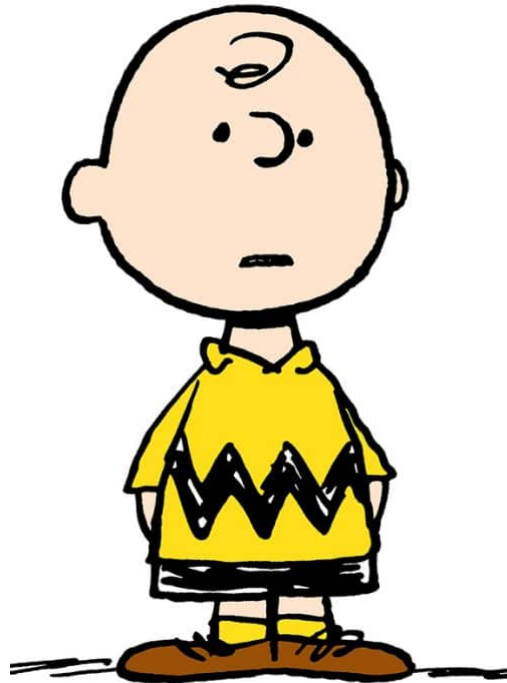

Dr. Doofenshmirtz

Dr. Doofenshmirtz

Dr. Doofenshmirtz may portray himself as a villainous scientist, but in reality, he is neither very evil nor intelligent. His monologues about his upbringing in Gimelschtump, Druselstien, are one of our favorites. We adore his devices' crazy names and the fact that a platypus is his archenemy. The relationship's intricacies are flawless. When Perry interrupts Doofenshmirtz just as his blind date is set to start, Perry helps out his adversary by acting like his pet. Most importantly, we adore his tunes.

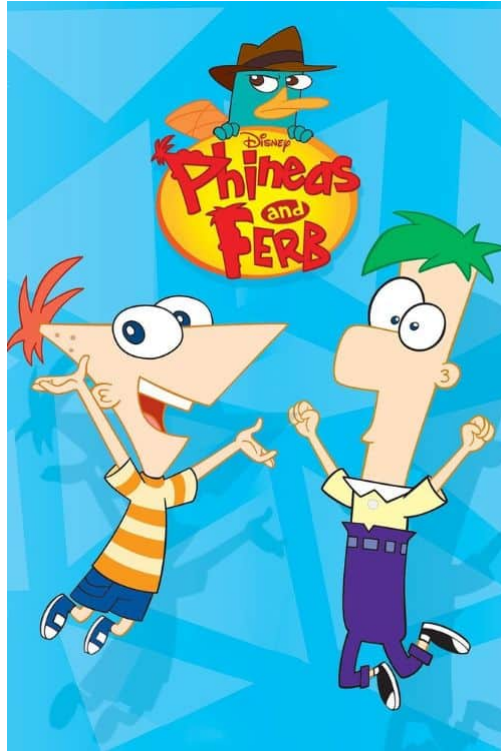

Charlie Brown

*15 Most Loved Cartoon Characters of All Time - Charlie Brown

This fictitious character first appeared in the comic strip Lil' Folks, which was created by Charles Schulz's newspaper in 1948. Its popularity seems to be rising at an unstoppable rate. This is due to the fact that it is syndicated in both Sunday and daily publications. Charles Monroe Schulz died in 2000, but he'll always be appreciated for creating this well-known cartoon character. It is said to be quite timid and full of fear.

Phineas and Ferb

Phineas and Ferb

Each episode begins with Phineas saying, “Hey Ferb, I know what we’re going to do today,” before beginning their most ambitious summertime project, whether it be building a huge tree house that turns into a large robot, making a movie, or inventing the time machine. Phineas and Ferb are absolutely innocent, despite the stepbrothers’ elaborate preparations eluding Candace and their parents’ notice.

Pink Panther

Pink Panther

*15 Most Loved Cartoon Characters of All Time - Pink Panther

Pink Panther initially appeared in the iconic 1963 movie The Pink Panther, which was a great blockbuster. Pink Panther was made by David H. DePatie and Friz Freleng. This cartoon's theme song has long been a fan favourite.

Also Read: Best Animated Series of All Time by DC